

Point against animal suffering

Why am I wearing a blue dot on my third eye?

On 15 February 2020, I had an experience that inspired me since that day, to wear a blue dot on my third eye. This is my sign and all vegans can do this too if they want, out of solidarity with all the millions of animals that are slaughtered alive every day for the meat-eating humans. It cannot go on like this and I would like to set an appropriate sign.

Every morning I draw this blue dot with my right middle finger on my third eye and every day this movement and this blue dot remind me that all cows are immobilized at this point by a bolt-shot, so that, thereupon, the poor animals will be slit open alive, for the meat-eating humans, in order that the blood is pumped out of the body by the heartbeat. I can't stand this perversion of humans anymore and with my blue dot on my third eye, exactly at the location of the bolt-shot, I want to draw people's attention to this horror.

Everyone who asks me gets the same answer as follows: "This blue dot stands for the bolt-shot, which is used to immobilize the animals so that they can no longer defend themselves when they are slaughtered alive for the meat-eating humans!"

I no longer like to discuss this horror but confronting and raising awareness is what I do with this blue dot. Go vegan and stand up for it and the immeasurable animal suffering will finally come to an end!
